SECTION 1 - SUMMARY

1.1 How the Council Operates

The Council is composed of 78 County Councillors (usually referred to in this Constitution as “Councillors”) elected every 4 years. Each Councillor represents an area of the County called an electoral division, and has a duty to represent the interests of people in that division. The overriding duty of Councillors, however, is owed to the whole County.

There is a Code of Conduct (“the Code of Conduct for Members”) which applies to Councillors when they carry out their duties (Annex 20 – Code of Conduct for Members and Register of Interests). There is a Standards Committee which is responsible for training and advising Councillors on, and deals with complaints about breaches of, the Code of Conduct for Members.

All Councillors meet together at full Council Meetings when decisions are taken on the Council’s overall policies and the budget. Meetings are open to the public. Members of the public are able to ask questions of leading Councillors, and can present petitions in accordance with the Council’s Standing Orders (Annex 6) and the Council’s Petitions Scheme (Annex 24).

1.2 How Decisions are Made

The Executive is that part of the Council which is responsible for most decisions on how the Council’s services are run. The Executive is made up of the Executive Leader (referred to in this document as “the Leader of the Council”) and at least 2 and up to 9 Councillors appointed by the Leader of the Council. The Executive is sometimes referred to as the Cabinet (the terms “Executive” and “Cabinet” have effectively the same meaning). The Executive delegates responsibility for many day-to-day decisions to officers, but still retains overall responsibility for them. When major decisions are to be made, notice is Published in advance in a document known as the Forward Plan. When the Executive meets to take decisions, the public can attend unless personal or confidential matters are being discussed.

The Executive cannot take decisions which are out of line with the Council’s Policy Framework (see Section 4 below and Annex 5 – Budget and Policy Framework Procedure Rules) or budget agreed by the full Council.

Councillors have the opportunity at each meeting of the Executive to question Executive Members (Annex 7).

Members of the public may present petitions in accordance with the Petitions Scheme (Annex 24).

1.3 Overview and Scrutiny

There is a system of scrutiny which supports and challenges the work of the Executive and Council. There is an Overview and Scrutiny Committee which monitors decisions of the Executive.

There is a procedure whereby Councillors can refer Executive decisions to the Overview and Scrutiny Committee for consideration before they are implemented (this is known as “call-in”). The Overview and Scrutiny Committee cannot change the Executive decision, but it can ask the relevant decision maker to re-consider it (Annex 9).

The Overview and Scrutiny Committee also sets an overall work programme for scrutinising matters for which the Executive is responsible. It appoints Topic Groups to undertake the detailed scrutiny work. Scrutiny meetings are open to the public except when personal or confidential matters are being discussed.

There is also a Health Scrutiny Committee which scrutinises the work of the National Health Service in Hertfordshire, the Council’s public health functions and the work of the Council’s Health and Wellbeing Board

1.4 The Council’s Staff

The Council’s staff (called “officers”) give advice to Councillors and take day-to-day decisions on the running of services. The Council is required by law to appoint a “Monitoring Officer” with responsibility to ensure that the Council acts within the law and a Chief Finance Officer with responsibility for the Council’s financial affairs and for ensuring that the Council’s spending is lawful. Further detail about these roles is given in Section 10 (Officers).

There is a Protocol which governs the relationship between Councillors and officers (Annex 18 - Protocol for Relationships Between Councillors and Officers). A key point in it is that all officers must be politically neutral and must provide support to all Councillors irrespective of party.

SECTION 2 - COUNCILLORS

The Council comprises 78 Councillors. One Councillor is elected by the voters of each of the 78 electoral divisions in the County.

Only registered voters of the County or those living or working there are eligible to be elected as Councillors.

2.2 Election and Terms of Office

County Council elections are held every four years, normally on the first Thursday in May. All County Councillors are elected at the same time. The new Councillors take up office on the 4th day after the day of the elections.

Where a Councillor dies, resigns or becomes disqualified, a by-election is held to fill his or her place on the Council for the remainder of the original term of office, unless the vacancy occurs within 6 months of the date fixed for the next four yearly elections.
